Will there be new rides at the Disneyland Park in the near future?
Denise Rongville
Fountain Valley, California

Not in the very near future. However, the Fantasyland area will undergo a major redevelopment with opening day slated for June in 1983. More on that later. — ED.

I truly enjoyed the story "New Orleans Square Profile." in the Spring issue.
Shannon Casey
Ontario, California

Will Disneyland ever have a "Mickey Mouse Revue"?
Tom O'Connor
Arvada, Colorado

The Walt Disney World "Mickey Mouse Revue" is being transferred to Tokyo Disneyland. There are no present plans to set up that attraction in the theme park in California. — ED.

When will Japan get its Magic Kingdom? How many acres does Walt Disney World cover?
Darren Jones
Yucca Valley, California

Tokyo Disneyland is scheduled to open in the Spring of 1983. There are 27,443 acres making up the Walt Disney World Vacation Kingdom. — ED.

Will there ever be a ride called "The Black Hole"?
Jimmy Smith
La Mirada, California

None with that name is under consideration at the present time. — ED.

I always look forward to each new issue of Disney News. Keep up the great work!

1982 VACATION & TRAVEL ADVENTURE

The Magic Kingdom Club is pleased to announce its most diverse selection of exciting travel programs ever.

The Club offers the most complete ways to visit both Disneyland and Walt Disney World with a variety of exclusive Club Vacation Plans at both destinations. These plans are especially tailored for our Club families, and include the most requested features such as unlimited-use Passports, along with meal and recreation options. Because you are dealing directly with the Magic Kingdom Club Travel Centers that furnish exclusive information/reservation service to our Club members, we are able to offer these plans at an exceptional price and value. The Disneyland and Walt Disney World Vacation Plans are fully detailed in your 1982 Membership Guide. Of particular interest is the "World Vacation" at Walt Disney World, whereby a Club family can enjoy five nights and six days of unlimited use of the total resort complex, including meals, recreation, and dinner shows. Since it was introduced three years ago, the World Vacation has become one of the most requested plans.

The World Showcase Tours for 1982 include exciting travel adventures to Hawaii, Europe, the Canadian Rockies, and Japan and the Orient. Each tour offers the highest quality components and itinerary, providing a truly memorable vacation experience.

In addition, for 1982, the Club introduces a special "Love Boat" program with Princess Cruises to Acapulco. The Club also continues its special reduced prices on individual and group cruises in the Bahamas and Caribbean aboard Norwegian Caribbean Lines, and its fabulous Walt Disney World/Cruise Combo program.

All of these World Showcase tours and cruises are detailed in the Club's new 1982 Vacation and Travel Book available upon request from either Magic Kingdom Club Travel Center (see page 19). With 24 full-color pages of exciting vacation ideas, the Vacation and Travel Book is your complete guide to planning a vacation in the Disney tradition of quality and service.

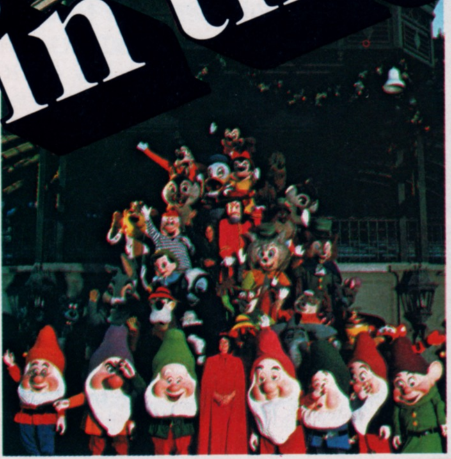
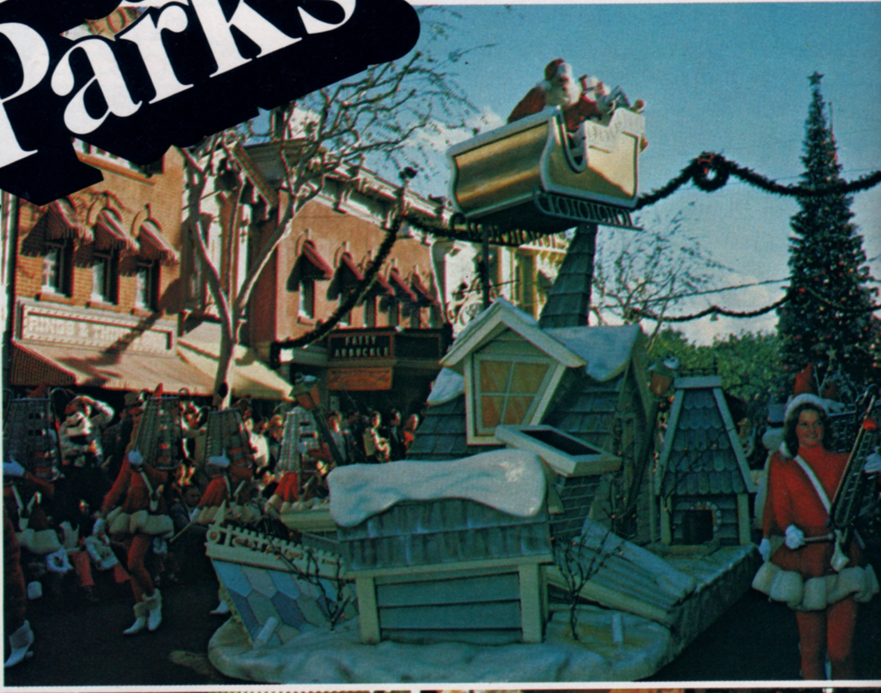
Christmas in the Parks





The Walt Disney World Magic Kingdom celebrates its tenth Christmas season this year, and as usual, the park will twinkle from head to toe in its festive finery. A host of delightful entertainment promises holiday visitors an especially good time.

The festivities begin December 12 and 13 with the ever-inspiring Candlelight Procession. The melodious strains of a Christmas choir combined with a dramatic narration of the Christmas story create a seasonal spectacle to be remembered.

Christmas fantasy on parade will be featured only as a small part of the glorious Tencennial Parade—a year-long gala event with 250 performers providing delightful dancing and musical entertainment, along with colorful floats representing each of the Magic Kingdom "lands."

Adding to the line-up, this year a special Holiday Fantasy Show, an entertaining extravaganza of Disney characters and entertainers, debuts in front of Cinderella Castle December 19 and continues daily through January 3.

The Walt Disney World Village displays the spirit of the season with its annual presentation of The Glory and Pageantry of Christmas. This live nativity tableau re-enacts the birth of Christ in nightly dockside, open-air performances December 15 through 24.

Christmas-time is another favorite time of year for Disneyland Park visitors. The Magic Kingdom is brightly decorated in Yuletide colors, and holiday aromas of sweet chocolate and pine permeate the air. A traditional joyful procession, "Fantasy on Parade," will highlight the Park's festivities with daily performances from December 19 through January 3.

The popular parade will feature scenes from many Walt Disney motion picture classics, including "Mary Poppins," "Cinderella," "Pinocchio," "Alice in Wonderland" and the spectacular marching toy soldiers from "Babes in Toyland."

A majestic 60-foot decorated Christmas tree towering over Town Square will evoke many "oohs" and "aahs" from holiday guests. Two white trees will stand in the waters of the moat at Sleeping Beauty Castle. Dickens Carolers will serenade as they stroll throughout the Park.

On various stages, top-name musical entertainment will be featured as part of the Disneyland Christmas season. The impressive Candlelight Procession entertains on December 19 and 20.

Disneyland will once again stage its perennially popular New Year's Eve Party from 8:30 p.m. to 2:30 a.m. on December 31. The evening will explode with spectacular fireworks and comedy—plus exceptional musical entertainment.

Tokyo Disneyland Project Underway

Walt Disney once said: "I think what I want Disneyland to be most of all is a happy place — a place where adults and children can experience together some of the wonders of life, adventure, and feel better because of it." So, too, will Tokyo Disneyland combine all the elements of showmanship, masterplanning, and quality which have made people everywhere "look to the name Walt Disney for the finest in family entertainment."

Tokyo Disneyland, a joint theme park project between Walt Disney Productions and Oriental Land Company, will open in 1983. It is Disney's first involvement in an overseas theme park.

Many of the most popular shows and attractions from the Disneyland and Walt Disney World Magic Kingdom's, along with three, new, specially-designed attractions, will be featured in the five themed lands encircling Tokyo Disneyland's Cinderella Castle. With the design process virtually complete, many of the shows are currently being fabricated at Disney's WED Enterprises facilities, the company's design and engineering arm.

"Pinocchio's Daring Journey" will be a new attraction unique to Tokyo Disneyland's Fantasyland. The magic of Pinocchio's world as he is transformed from a wooden puppet into a real boy will be recreated in this charming show. Guests will meet many of Pinocchio's friends along the journey, Jiminy Cricket being among the favorite featured.

"Meet the World" and "Japan 200°," two shows currently under design for Tokyo Disneyland, will be located in Tomorrowland. "Japan 200°" theater, utilizing five projectors, will partially surround viewers with spectacular scenes filmed in various locales in Japan. The spacious theater will provide a close-up, wide-screen view of the colorful show.

"Meet the World" is planned as a multi-media experience focusing on the resourceful and adventurous ways in which Japan has grown and developed in the world community. The "Meet the World" show can best be described as a sort of reverse of the Walt Disney World "Carousel of Progress," with the outer ring housing the four, full stages surrounding a rotating inner ring which will be the seating area. After each act, the seating sections revolve 90°, bringing the audience to the next era in Japanese history. Guests will experience the nation's saga through the "magical powers" of a storyteller who will transport them from prehistoric times up through the present.

A major conceptual expansion over its United States predecessors will be the totally "climatized" World Bazaar. Comparable to the Disneyland and Walt Disney World "Main Streets," the World Bazaar will be completely protected by a roof to permit operation in all weather conditions.

In addition to World Bazaar, where shops, restaurants and picturesque courtyards will be themed to turn-of-the-century America, Tokyo Disneyland will include Adventureland, Westernland, Fantasyland and Tomorrowland.

Visitors to Adventureland will leave civilization behind as they experience the mystery and romance of exotic tropical regions of the world in attractions like "Pirates of the Caribbean" and the "Jungle Cruise." Westernland will afford Japanese citizens the opportunity to get a taste of the American frontier recreated in the "Diamond Horseshoe Revue," "Country Bear Jamboree" and the "Rivers of America." Disney favorites such as the "Mickey Mouse Revue," "Snow White's Adventures," "Peter Pan's Flight" and "It's a Small World" will be among featured shows in Fantasyland. And Tomorrowland, like its United States counterparts, will offer guests futuristic thrills in attractions such as "Space Mountain," "Starjets" and "CircleVision 360°."

Just as Walt Disney World was not an exact duplicate of Disneyland, Tokyo Disneyland will not be a carbon copy of either park, yet its philosophy remains the same: Tokyo Disneyland will be dedicated to family entertainment...a place as old as yesterday and as modern as tomorrow...a place for children to enjoy the adventures of adulthood and where grown-ups can once again enjoy the pleasure of being a child.

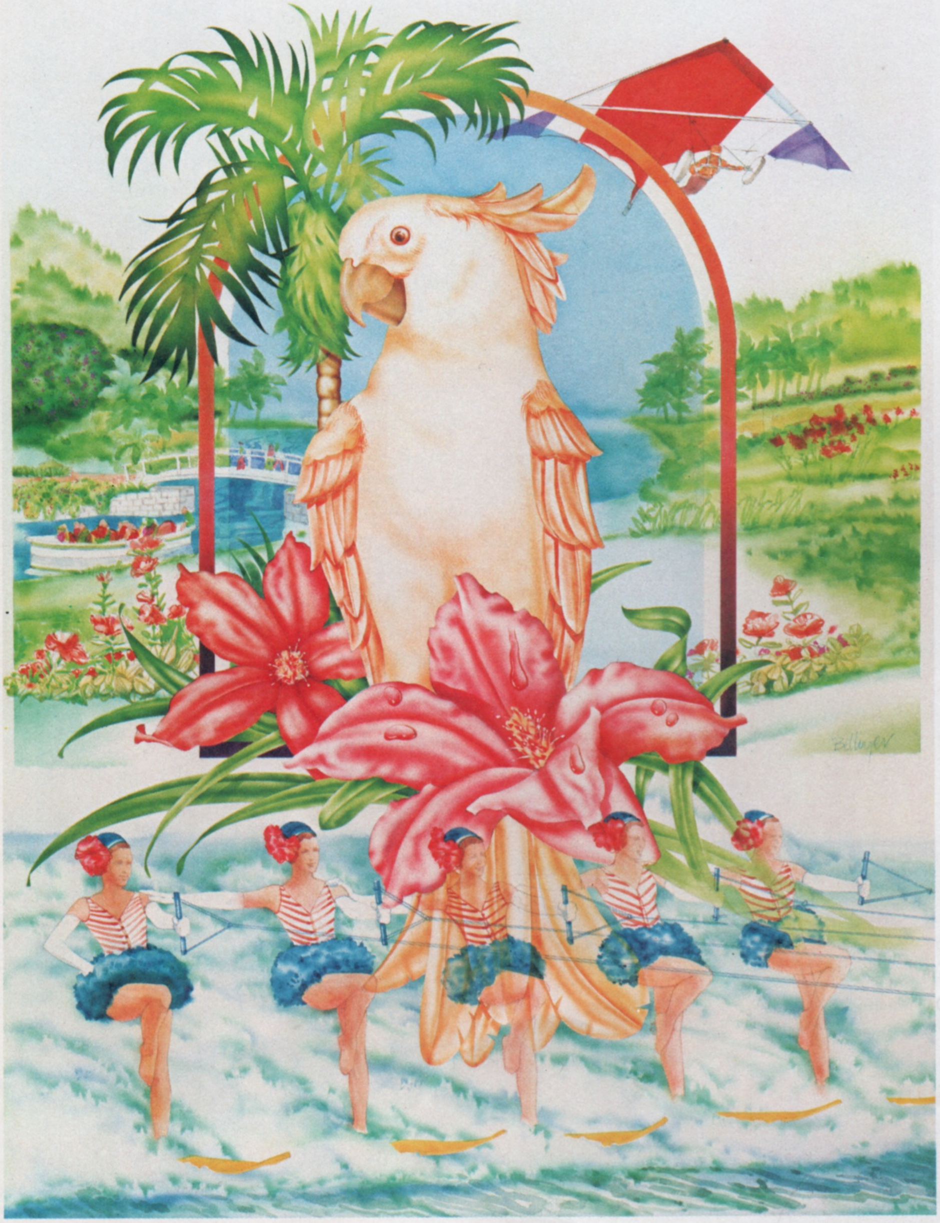
A CYPRESS GARDENS DAY

A day at Florida's Cypress Gardens awakes under crisp azure skies and blossoms beneath a warm yellow sun. With a pleasant anticipation of what lies ahead, visitors ramble across welcome-mats of dewy green lawns, mentally charting the day's course along the many paths, each leading to a treasure-trove of delights.

Waterways and foot-paths weave through more than 200 acres of botanical splendor crowned by swaying palm trees and mirrored in glass smooth lagoons. Living bouquets of color—saffron and lavendor, primrose and scarlet—fringe shaded meadows and the banks of a sun-speckled lake; blends of sweet fragrances catch a ride on a morning breeze as it gently tosses ribbons of Spanish moss dangling from stately stands of Cypress.

A leisurely-paced stroll allows close inspection of the myriad of multi-colored blossoms, while a narrated boat tour offers visitors an effortless look at the world-famous, magical gardens.

In a newly expanded area, 14 acres to the south of the original park, 30 new attractions are located in two themed areas: Southern Crossroads and The Living Forest. A short walk across the rushing water of Cypress Creek, an authentic Florida wildlife area awaits guests in the Living Forest. Lush tropical foliage provides a natural backdrop for the Exotic Bird Revue starring scooter-pedaling and roller-skating cockatoos and the world's first water skiing macaw.



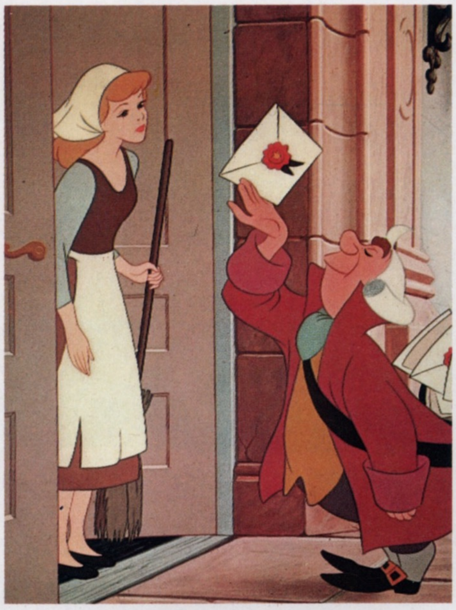
Nearby is the Everglades Arena featuring a famous, if not infamous, Florida Native—the American alligator. A skilled reptile trainer narrates the performance highlighted by his hypnotizing the alligator and safely awakening him, cautiously avoiding his crushing steel-trap jaws.

Visitors to Southern Crossroads meander the cobblestone streets of an antebellum town nestled amidst a colorful, floral setting. Housed in a colonial-style theater in the heart of Southern Crossroads is "Legends of the South," a multi-media historical presentation hosted by characters from some of the South's best-known legends. Southern belles, Confederate soldiers and bawdy pirates who sailed the Florida Keys, appear and disappear. Tales of bayou trappers and Cajun voodoo queens hold the watching audience spellbound.

In the Garden Cinema, guests become a part of such thrilling adventures as racing an airboat through the Florida Everglades and riding a speedboat through snaking Cypress Gardens canalways, only to end up flying over a ski jump ramp.

No visit to Cypress Gardens would be complete without seeing one of the four daily water ski revues. With more than 50,000 shows to its credit, Cypress Gardens has earned the title of the water ski capital of the world. Its skiers have pioneered such feats as barefoot skiing, the four-tier pyramid, kite flying and 360-degree swivel ballet.

The famous ski shows, the new attractions of Southern Crossroads and the Living Forest, and the brightly-hued splendor of the original gardens, all wrapped in radiant sunshine and presented with Southern hospitality, make a day at Cypress Gardens truly a gift-package of Florida at its best.



CINDERELLA

A treat is in store for Disney animation fans this Christmas when the classic rags-to-riches tale, "Cinderella," is re-released for the fourth time. The Disney version of "Cinderella" is an English translation of the French tale which was written over 300 years ago by Charles Perrault.

The first full-length animation feature, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" was released in 1938, a successful realization of Walt Disney's dream of "bringing life and motion to fine illustration." Other Disney cartoon classics followed, including "Bambi," "Fantasia," "Peter Pan" and "Alice in Wonderland." Since its premiere release in 1950, "Cinderella" has been seen by appreciative audiences in 1957, 1965 and 1973.

The familiar tale of the beautiful girl who thwarts the devious aspirations of her stepmother and stepsisters by capturing the heart of the handsome prince herself, is familiar to most moviegoers. And because of the Disney policy of re-releasing its timeless films every seven or eight years, a new generation will be assured of enjoying "Cinderella" this holiday season.

LET'S GO TO THE MOVIES

Night Crossing

On September 16, 1979, two families amazed the world when they dared to escape from the oppression of Communist East Germany in a home-made, hot-air balloon.

This courageous venture has been filmed in Technicolor by Walt Disney Productions to be released by Buena Vista in February.

Britain's gifted actor, John Hurt, who starred in "Midnight Express" and "Elephant Man," portrays the head of one family, with noted actress, Jane Alexander as his wife. Beau Bridges and Glynnis O'Connor also star. The true story was filmed entirely on location in West Germany by Academy Award-winning director Delbert Mann.

The Strelzyk's family's first attempt to ride the winds to freedom ends in a crashed balloon just short of their goal. When the Wetzel family decides to join them on a second attempt, there are many frustrating moments as they purchase small amounts of taffeta to be painstakingly sewed together to make the balloon that eventually carries them across the border.

"Night Crossing" was produced by Tom Leetch, with Ron Miller as executive producer.

Cruisin' Thru a Jungle of

Recently four brave explorers, Mickey, Minnie, Pluto and Goofy climbed aboard the Ganges Gal and set a course that would take them into the deepest, darkest jungles of the world.

The canopied boat slipped through murky waters where low growls and screams from unseen beasts broke the tropical silence. They were soon enveloped by lush vegetation as they entered a rain forest with such botanical wonders as plum-colored orchids and Dragon's Blood Trees.

Entering a pool full of yawning hippos, the intrepid group anxiously passes on trying to avoid watery surprises from playful elephants bathing beside the ruins of an ancient Cambodian shrine. A family of king cobras and a snarling Bengal tiger now inhabit the lost city.

Mickey guides the little boat beneath the thundering Albert Schweitzer Falls and enters the narrow, wandering Nile. Goofy and Pluto go ashore to say hello to grazing zebras and giraffes.

The four adventurers come upon what appears to be a welcome bit of civilization when a safari outpost comes into view. But the camp has been taken over by a family of mischievous gorillas. Moving on, they see members of a lost safari who are literally "up a tree"—held at bay by the sharp tusk of a rhino as laughing hyenas enjoy the dramatic scene.

"Trader Sam", the jungle's "head" salesman, greets the crew and offers them...two of his for one of theirs. Captain Mickey politely refuses. And the Ganges Gal chug-chugs quickly out of the range of spears and arrows.

There is still further adventure up ahead. Minnie screams when she encounters a giant python threatening to make a feast out of a young water buffalo calf, but luckily, adult buffalos step in to thwart his dinner plans.

The exciting cruise came to an end when, with sighs of relief, the quartet sighted the return dock in Adventureland. They all agreed it was difficult to believe that only minutes had passed since they left the safety of their home in the Disneyland Park for the perils of the deep, dark jungles.

Walt Disney World Epcot Center—
"COMMUNITY OF IDEAS" TAKING SHAPE

EPCOT CENTER, Walt Disney's greatest and most incredible dream, is dramatically becoming a reality at the Walt Disney World resort complex, just south of the Magic Kingdom theme park.

A completely new kind of vacation experience, EPCOT (Experimental Prototype Community of Tomorrow) CENTER will open its gates to the world October 1, 1982, marking the dawn of a new era in Disney entertainment annals.

Walt Disney envisioned this $800 million project as a "Community of Ideas." He said, "with the technical know-how of American industry and the creative imagination of the Disney organization, I'm confident we can build a living showcase that more people will talk about and come to look at than any other area in the world."

Inspired by this vision and fueled with creative energy, WED Enterprises, the "Imagineering" Division of Walt Disney Productions, has designed a colossal showplace for the enjoyment of millions of people of all ages who are destined to share the EPCOT experience.

EPCOT CENTER encompasses two distinct dimensions: Future World and World Showcase. Each is unique in design and concept. Distinctive American corporations are participating in "theme pavilions" on the subjects of land, energy and transportation as part of Future World. Pavilions included are:

"Spaceship Earth", presented by the Bell System. A dazzling statement to our survival through the ages.

"World of Motion," presented by General Motors. A tongue-in-cheek "road show" highlighting milestones in our ever-accelerating quest for great mobility.

"The Universe of Energy," presented by Exxon. An electrifying show set within a solar-powered building the size of three football fields.

"The Land," presented by Kraft. A pavilion exploring Nature in her wildest and most cultivated states.

"Journey Into Imagination," presented by Kodak. A fantasia-like ride into the wondrous worlds of art, literature, science and technology.

"Horizons", presented by General Electric. A celebration of the achievements and advancements of our next century. This will open in October, 1983.

And opening in 1984, "The Seas" will explore the mysteries of our aquatic frontier.

Also in Future World, in the "Communicore," which is the hub of EPCOT CENTER, guests will learn and interact together, enjoying demonstrations, exhibits and futuristic "hands-on" experiences. "Future Choice Theater," presented by Time Inc., will encourage audiences to express their thoughts on a variety of issues through state-of-the-art television technology. "Epcot Computer Central," presented by Sperry Univac, will offer a first-hand look at the computer wizardry behind many of the EPCOT shows.

Many nations around the world are being represented in World Showcase. Canada, China, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Mexico and the United Kingdom will form the initial World Showcase community of nations. Visitors will stroll along a promenade of a broad lagoon as they discover the cultures, traditions and accomplishments of these individual countries in a variety of shows, attractions, restaurants and shops unique to each.

Centrally located in the community of nations will be the "American Adventure" pavilion, presented by Coca-Cola and American Express. Here, the rich drama of our nation's heritage will be featured.

Some 1,800 artists, designers and engineers at WED, another 1,000 from consulting firms, plus over 2,000 on-site construction workers are involved in the completion of this vast international showplace. Many design "firsts" are in progress. The "Spaceship Earth's" geosphere, for instance, is the only one of its kind in the world. The "Universe of Energy" building will display over 2,000 solar panels containing more than 80,000 individual photovoltaic cells which provide the power for the ride vehicles inside.

An entirely new generation of Disney special effects will create yet-unseen visual wonders for the pavilions of Future World and World Showcase. Giant holograms, rivers of liquid neon, lazers and a host of electronic props will combine to create breathtaking presentations.

EPCOT CENTER is a celebration of imagination and ingenuity...an entertainment and educational encounter of the ultimate kind. With the art of Disney Imagineering pushed to unprecedented heights, EPCOT CENTER will present exhilarating new visions of the future and the endeavors of the family of man.

New Hotel Shops

(Disneyland Hotel and Inn at Park)

This year, many new specialty shops made their debut in the Plaza Building of the popular Disneyland Hotel complex. Some are Disney themed. Fantasia features a wide selection of Disney character apparel and also selected jewelry for adults and teens.

Bambi's is a colorful new boutique offering a display of Disney fashions in clothing and accessories for infants and toddlers.

Fashionable jewelry in gold and precious stones is the specialty of Kingdom Jewels, which also has an exciting array of Seiko watches for men and women.

THE INN AT THE PARK

If m'lady needs a comfortable pair of shoes for walking in the Disneyland Park, or a formal pair of slippers for a convention banquet, she will find them at The Glass Slipper, well-stocked with casual and dress shoes for women.

A game arcade has been expanded to include more and more exciting electronic games of skill and chance.

Miss Minnie, catering to the California Junior look, has added a brand new contemporary fashions area, emphasizing active sportswear.

The California Woman has a new Designer Corner, with top-name designer fashions.

In addition to the newest shops, Disneyland Hotel guests and visitors have an assortment of other shopping adventure locations handy to the harried traveler. There's the Castle Sundries drug store, supplying all manner of sundry items...film, toiletries, cards, luggage, smoking accessories, reading material and stationery. Brightly-packaged candies and nuts are available at the Nut 'n Candy Shop.

If you're a guest at the Inn at the Park, also in Anaheim, you'll discover a new Disney souvenir shop, Mickey's Mart.

All in all, the Disneyland Hotel quality shops prove very convenient for the traveler and fun to explore.

Park Ambassadors Wind Up Busy Year

Disneyland
COMMUNITY SERVICE

It's difficult to believe that 1981 is rapidly drawing to a close. As I look back upon my year as the 1981 Disneyland Ambassador to the World, I have wonderful memories that I will always cherish.

My year as the Goodwill Ambassador began with a tour to Tokyo, Japan to participate in the Site Dedication Ceremony of Tokyo Disneyland, which proved to be very exciting. In other visits that followed—to Europe, Mexico and throughout the United States—I found that people were very enthusiastic about anything related to the Disney organization. The welcomes we received were always very warm.

The Disney characters and I had hundreds of opportunities to experience the happy reactions of those children we visited in hospitals and schools. To know that we could bring some measure of happiness into the lives of those who were seriously ill was most gratifying.

I also had the opportunity to meet many other interesting people both here at Disneyland and during my travels, including the King of Western Samoa, Princess Margriet of the Netherlands and other foreign dignitaries.

It has been a challenge to try to explain to others just what the Disneyland magic is all about. It's been a challenge and a year that I shall never forget!

My thanks and best wishes to all the friends I have made over the past year. Willie Van der Zwaag

I really appreciate this opportunity to share with you my experiences as the 1981 Walt Disney World Ambassador. This past year holds such a wonderful whirlwind of happy memories, it is very easy to be overly-enthusiastic and excited about being a part of Walt Disney Productions.

Right in the middle of Ambassador training, Willie Van der Zwaag, the Disneyland Ambassador, and I received our first assignments. We were asked to participate in the site-dedication and groundbreaking ceremonies for Tokyo Disneyland in Japan!

Since then, the year has been filled with media interviews and travel. But what we do right here at home is just as exciting and rewarding. As the official hostess for Walt Disney World, I have had the opportunity to welcome many convention groups and special guests to the Magic Kingdom. It is such a thrill to share Walt Disney World with people who are visiting for the very first time!

Participating in community affairs was also a vital part in our schedule this year.

As we prepare for our Tencennial celebration, the year keeps winding up—not down. I am grateful to have been able to represent Walt Disney World in such an exciting time in its history. The friends I have made, the memories I hold so dear and the opportunities ahead, leave me with wonderful feelings for the Disney organization and what it represents.

Thank you, everyone! Robin Maples

Tencennial Series of Entertainment The Walt Disney World 10th Birthday celebration rolls on with two big nights of excitement, Friday and Saturday, February 12 and 13. A special ticket provides you with a line-up of live, top-name musical performers, plus unlimited use of the more than 40 Magic Kingdom attractions from 9 p.m. 'til 1:30 a.m.

TELEVISION After 27 years on ABC and NBC television, Disney's prime-time anthology series shifted to CBS, launching its 28th season on Sept. 26. The program airs on Saturday evenings at 8 p.m. (EST). Pilots, specials, feature films and animated programs are scheduled for the broadcast season.

DISNEYLAND Good news for winter! Everything's coming up fun at the Magic Kingdom during the Christmas holiday season and on into the months of January and February! The colorful Yuletide season opens with the inspirational Candlelight Procession at 6 p.m. on Dec. 19 and 20. The event features a special guest star narrating the story of the "First Christmas," while 1,000 carolers light the darkened Main Street, U.S.A. with flickering candles.

Delightfully animated Mr. and Mrs. Snowman are but two of the many storybook characters that participate in Disneyland Park's holiday celebration, "Fantasy on Parade." Presented daily Dec. 19 through Jan. 3, the 30-minute procession features scenes from many Disney motion picture classics. Park guests will also enjoy top-name musical entertainment throughout Disneyland during the holidays.

"Small World Days" on Dec. 5 and 6 mean complimentary rides on the popular attraction.

On the weekend of Jan. 16 and 17, marching bands from all over the nation will participate in a sparkling event, "Music, Music, Music."

The inspirational sounds of contemporary Christian music will be showcased on Jan. 22 during "Contempo '81."

Every Thursday and Friday (except April 8 and 9), beginning Jan. 7 through June 4, Disneyland will offer Senior Fun Days. On these days, those 50 years of age and over can purchase unlimited use ticket books for $8.00. They also can enjoy free parking and discounted lunches.

Country music stars will perform during Country Music Days, Feb. 12 - 14. Festival Pan-Am will wind up the month of February on Feb. 27 - 28.

MOVIES Disney's christmas gift for the whole family this season is "Cinderella." The Disney version of the age-old legend, originally released in 1950, is now considered an animation classic.

A host of unforgettable characters is featured in the film, including Cinderella herself, the Fairy Godmother, Jaq and Gus-Gus, the mice, the diabolical cat, Lucifer, and the wicked stepmother and stepsisters, as well as the very handsome Prince.

The lush animation is complemented by a memorable musical score, including "Bibbidi Bobbidi Boo," "A Dream Is a Wish Your Heart Makes," "So This Is Love," "The Work Song" and "Cinderella."

A change of mood is set for February, 1982, when Disney presents a new live-action drama, "Night Crossing." The true story of two East German families who escaped to the West in a hot-air balloon, the gripping adventure stars Academy Award nominees John Hurt and Jane Alexander and Beau Bridges and Glynnis O'Conner. Academy Award-winner ("Marty") Delbert Mann directed.

An exciting new film is planned for a summer 1982 release by Buena Vista. "TRON" is a futuristic adventure set in a fantasy world — a world of computers — in this first motion picture to make extensive use of computer graphics. Starring in "TRON" are Jeff Bridges, David Warner, Bruce Boxleitner, Cindy Morgan and Barnard Hughes.

Steven Lisberger makes his feature directorial debut on the film, which he scripted and developed with producer Donald Kushner. Special effects were supervised by Harrison Ellenshaw (who is also associate producer) and Richard Taylor.

Future film projects now underway include "Something Wicked This Way Comes". Ray Bradbury wrote the screenplay, adapted from his own popular novel. Two-time Academy Award-winner Jason Robards stars in the story of two teenage boys who must battle the powers of a satanic circus which arrives one night in their hometown. Release by Buena Vista is planned for Christmas, 1982.

Among other projects in development is a film version of the life of Albert Einstein. Thomas Pope has been signed to write the screenplay. He previously wrote the screenplay for Zoetrope's "Hammett" and the adaptation for Paramount of Pat Conroy's new novel, "The Lords of Discipline." (Conroy, himself, is debuting as screenwriter on Disney's "Joshua.")

"This project will be a first-of-its kind movie," said Ron Miller, president and chief operating officer. "It's a unique combination of a personal story about one of mankind's greatest figures and spectacular visual interpretations of his concepts." Filming is planned to begin next year on location in Switzerland and Germany.

Walter Murch and Gill Dennis have been signed by Disney to write "Return to Oz," an original screenplay based on L. Frank Baum's classic books.

Murch, an Academy Award-winner for sound on "Apocalypse Now," and an Oscar nominee for his editing of "Julia" and sound on "The Conversation," will make his directing debut on the live-action feature. Murch co-wrote, with George Lucas, "THX 1138."

"We have owned all of Baum's Oz books, except 'The Wizard of Oz,' for 30 years," Miller said. "This will not be a sequel or continuation of MGM's 1939 film, but will draw on characters and situation from other books in the series for a totally new story with an entirely different look."
